AMERICAN BEEF.

New York, July 31.—[Special.]—The passage of a bill by the English House of Commons prohibiting the importation into England of live cattle, owing to the alleged presence of foot-and-mouth disease, was the subject of much comment among the wholesale butchers of the city to-day. Still, it was generally stated, would not materially affect the exports of beef suspended from this country. The effect, so far as quotations here are concerned, will be to do away with the expectation of cutbacks on the part of the latter will be sought, and the demand must still be met by England to ship provisions with cattle on board.

"The whole trouble is just here," remarked one of the largest dealers in West Washington Market yesterday. "Exporters are sold here and cheaper beef than can be obtained. The shrinkage between the point of shipment and destination, which is considerable, is thus made profitable. Subject to a tax, such as is proposed, and also duties, the export business would, therefore, assume a prohibitory tariff. It may be out of the market. Consequently the method also be taken the adoption of the very step which it is to prevent."

RECEIPTS OF CATTLE.

The change in the way in which beef is to be shipped hereafter will be at time of considerable expense to the shippers of the cattle, as they will have to make arrangements for slaughtering and dressing the cattle, instead of shipping the cattle on the hoof, as heretofore. It appears there is a little profit to the shipper that the meat and hides are worth. Heretofore the shipper of the cattle has received the value of the hide, as well as the meat, but hereafter the shipper will be compelled to dispose of the hides to some tanner.

Armour, of Chicago, who is preparing to establish large packing-houses at Jersey City, is also going to the Corlis, I was asked to-day, to put up a big plant for the preparation that he will do so at once. The Swift people have also been in the city for several days, and it is understood that they are preparing to establish extensive packing-houses at Jersey City.

On the completion of the Brooklyn docks, and a number of other improvements which are now under way, the Cunard Company will be able to accommodate a number of steamers at the docks at one time, and the Inman Line will also be able to accommodate a number of steamers at the docks at one time. The Inman Line will also be able to accommodate a number of steamers at the docks at one time. The Inman Line will also be able to accommodate a number of steamers at the docks at one time.

IMMIGRANTS.

Castle Garden's arrivals.

New York, July 31.—[Special.]—Three ocean steamers brought to Castle Garden people to-day. It is thought that about eighty-five of the fifty-five here, "as stated" from the West of Ireland, while there are a few to reach the Clyde of Scotland. The appearance of the Courts, from Hamburg, are mostly Germans with a small addition to the Scandinavian States. The number of immigrants arriving this month is about double that it was in June. The United States Inter-Ocean Line, the landing of natural Eastern immigrants. They were sent out by the Eastern Ladies' Society to London. All the peoples were from Europe. The officers of the United States Service to this city, when applied to, would do nothing for them, and insisted that they should not be allowed to land. They were, however, to London the 19th inst., all the families with sick supplied with medicines.

AT BOSTON.

More than 600 emigrant immigrants arrived at the Commonwealth Pier at Boston, to-day. They were all immediately sent to the Eastern Railroad station, and from thence to the Western States. It was found that many of them had friends in the Western States, and their destination was Chicago. The Boston and Albany Railroad Company refused to carry them to Chicago, and they were sent to Buffalo, and from there to Chicago. The Boston and Albany Railroad Company refused to carry them to Chicago, and they were sent to Buffalo, and from there to Chicago.

TELEGRAPHY.

Western Union will run wires.

New York, July 31.—[Special.]—Considerable excitement has been said in Baltimore to-day concerning the leasing of the American Rapid Telegraph Company to the Western Union. It is stated that the Western Union Company is willing to assume control of the lines of the other company, providing it can secure an advantageous contract. Some of the Rapid Telegraph men say that the Western Union is willing to lease the lines of the Rapid Telegraph Company for a term of years, and

The Colorado Pool Association Meeting Unable to Agree upon Rates Permanently and Will Make Another Effort Oct. 8.

Another meeting of the General Managers, General Freight Agents, and Interstate Commerce agents of the railway lines between the Missouri River and the Rocky Mountains was held yesterday at the Grand Pacific Hotel for the purpose of taking steps looking towards the reorganization of the Colorado Pool Association, the present agreement expiring by limitation July 31.

After a full discussion of the subject it was found that no satisfactory arrangement could be made at this time, as Mr. J. F. Tucker, Traffic Manager of the Union Pacific, who has succeeded Atchison for that road, is unable to arrange new percentages, but will do so soon. There being considerable difference of opinion regarding the division of the business, it was thought best before taking further steps to wait until Mr. Tucker could find an opportunity to submit his report, as there was a probability that its conclusions respecting the division of the business and gross earnings might be to be applied under a new pooling agreement. Mr. Tucker is at present on the East and will not return until the end of the month, and it was therefore decided to hold another meeting on that day (July 31), when it is expected that Mr. Tucker will be able to submit his report. Mr. Tucker was appointed arbitrator to sort certain disputed business matters, Chairman Blanchard, of the Joint Executive Committee, being appointed to act in case Mr. Tucker should be unable to serve. Under the existing agreement the basis for a division would be the percentages of the business done by the Union Pacific and the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe lines, which are 37 and 63 per cent respectively. The Union Pacific claims a larger percentage of the business than it received on the basis, and it is probable that a compromise will be suggested, if any case is to be settled on the basis of the percentages of last year, by which the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe would receive 60 per cent of the business and the Union Pacific 40 per cent. The Union Pacific claims that the percentages of last year were abnormal, and are not fairly applicable to the present year. The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, on the other hand, claims that the percentages of last year were fair, and that the Union Pacific has been receiving more than its share of the business. The Union Pacific claims that the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe has been receiving more than its share of the business.
